

Other Resources

There are many other resources available for the SAID advocate. There is a website assembled by one of our members (Dr. Paul Burtner) which is a series of links to many websites of interest to those involved with dental care for patients with special needs. Included are links to other related dental organizations plus a host of educational resources including our own SAID modules. Of particular interest, listed under information resources is the Surgeon General's report on "Oral Health in America" which should be required reading for anyone advocating on behalf of Oral Health for any population. There are also links to more full-text Journal articles and Dr. Burtner keeps adding to this list as new articles become available. There is a link to the Specialized Care Company, a company that develops & manufactures dental products for patients with disabilities and the dental professionals that care for them. There are links to 10 State Developmental Disability Council sites as well as links to thirteen other organizations that devote themselves to advocacy/ education for patients with disabilities. The following link is the key to a marvelous treasure chest of information about our special patients.
